PREFACE TO QUINQUENNIAL OF 1897.

The preparation of the present catalogue was first suggested by the President of the University early in the past year and brought before the Alumni Association at its 25th Annual Meeting June 22, 1896 — who voted that the Council have charge of the subject. At the first meeting of the Council in July, the Secretary was instructed to prepare the Quinquennial Catalogue for publication. The Secretary entered upon this work in the following August, and in March, 1897, had the complete manuscript ready for the press after a laborious task in searching the records of the School from Nov. 1, 1868.

Of course the objects of the Association made it important that as many as possible of the former students of the School should be immediately communicated with; and yet there was in existence only a partial printed list of such students, and the only manuscript list in existence was that contained in the original records of the School, in which the names of the students were given only in the order, in point of time, in which they entered the School. As nearly as possible the precise date is given when every student entered the School.

A systematic effort was made to ascertain, not only who of the former students of the School were dead, but also when and where they died. It was evident, however, that this effort would involve ascertaining, so far as possible, the present addresses of those who were still living; for, as there could seldom be certainty that any particular person was dead unless the time and place of his death were known, so there could seldom be certainty that any particular person was still living, unless his address was known. Moreover, it was evident that those who were still living would be among the very best sources of information as to those who were dead. Accordingly, the labor was entered upon of ascertaining either the present address, or the time and place of the death, of every man who had ever been in the School.

As to those who were graduates of colleges, recourse was first had in many instances to their respective colleges. This method was the means of ascertaining very fully who of the graduates of colleges were dead, and, in many cases, when and where they died. In some instances the addresses of living men have been obtained through their respective colleges of which they were graduates.

Recourse was next had to directories; and the list of dentists in every city and town of the United States, including the published Dental Register of the United States, and the Medical Register of the United States, wherever such list could be found in any printed directory, was carefully examined: in this way the addresses of a large number of living men were obtained. No address obtained in this way could be used, however, without further evidence that the person whose address was found was the same person who was in the Dental School, and not a different person with the same or a similar name.

Accordingly the next step was to address cards of inquiry to all persons whose addresses had been obtained from directories and registers; and no address has been given in the catalogue on the authority of a directory alone.

The next step was to send to every man whose address had been obtained, either in one of the ways just indicated or in any other way, printed lists of the men who left the School in the same year that he did, or in the years immediately preceding or following.

Printed above the lists was an explanatory clause, indicating the amount and kind of information wanted, accompanied by a printed postal card requesting a return of the card, with such of the desired information as the recipient was able to give.

These circulars were responded to in a manner which was very gratifying. Fears were entertained that many of those gentlemen best qualified to give the information desired would be too heavily burdened with professional or official duties, or would be unwilling to undertake the labor which a compliance with the request contained in the circular would impose upon them. Experience, however, soon showed that these fears were wholly groundless. In numerous instances, gentlemen whom, for one or both reasons just stated, it seemed wrong to trouble at all, not only returned the postal cards filled, and in some instances with their margins crowded with valuable information, but also wrote long and interesting letters.

It was inevitable, however, that much of the information obtained through these circulars and lists should be incomplete, and also that much of it should be given only by way of hint and suggestion, and as a basis for further enquiry; and therefore there resulted an enormous amount of correspondence, having for its object the obtaining of precise information as to particular men. Not unfrequently as many as from five to twelve letters have been written with reference to a single person. This was owing to the fact that many did not understand the circulars, as many had entered and left the School, or afterward changed to the Medical or some other School.

Nearly 1500 letters, postals, and circulars have been sent out with reference to this catalogue, and the number from whom answers to these circulars have been received is 510; therefore there can be no doubt as to the present correctness of their addresses as given in this issue. The addresses of the remaining 34 are given in accordance with the latest information in my possession.

In the case of men whom the circular could not have reached (it having been returned to me through the post) the address as given in the catalogue is followed by a note of interrogation. The number of addresses so marked is 4.

A great amount of information having been thus obtained, both as to the addresses of living men and as to deaths, it was still a question how far this information should be embodied in the catalogue; but it was concluded that it would be a mistake to omit any of it; and accordingly the present addresses of all living men have been given in the chronological list, so far as they have been ascertained, and the names of all those who are known to be dead are not only marked with an asterisk, but the times and places of their births and deaths are given so far as known.

While it would be too much to hope that the information thus given is free from errors, it is proper to say that no pains have been spared to avoid mistakes and to insure correctness. In particular, great care has been taken that the name of no one as to whose death there was supposed to be any doubt, should be marked with an asterisk.

In the chronological list, to the name of every graduate of a college or other educational institution are added his degree, the college from which he received it, and the year in which he graduated; to the name of every graduate of the Dental School both his degree of D.M.D. and the year in which he received it. In a few instances it has been found impossible to ascertain the year in which a college degree was conferred.

The geographical list (i. e. a list arranged according to present place of residence) shows at a glance those men who are living graduates of the Dental School by their degrees and year of graduation, while those who are not graduates, the year only of leaving the School is given.

The alphabetical list is in the nature of an index to the chronological list, and in order to make the former serve more perfectly as an index to the latter, and also to allow any one to see at a glance how long any man remained in the School, the year in which each student left the School is added; so that all asterisks and all degrees have been excluded from the alphabetical list. Of course it would have been an improvement to have given the time when each student left the School more definitely than by merely designating the year; but that was found impracticable.

Not unfrequently the same name is entered more than once in the alphabetical list; the explanation is that the person bearing the name has entered and left the School more than once. In all such cases the person's name is entered in the alphabetical list as many times as he entered and left the School; and it is also entered in the chronological list under every different year in which he left the School.

It must not be supposed that the work of obtaining information is to cease because this catalogue has been issued. On the contrary, it will be continued without interruption; and it is hoped that the publication of the first edition will serve as a fresh stimulus to the former students of the School to give their aid in making a second edition more nearly complete as well as more correct. Those who have rendered such effective service in giving to the first edition that completeness and freedom from error which it possesses, had nothing before them but bare lists of the names of those who were their own contemporaries in the School, or nearly so; and it is hoped that the possession of the catalogue itself will enable many of them to increase the debt of gratitude which the School already owes them, and which those who now have the honor to represent the School take so much pleasure in acknowledging. The information which the catalogue gives of every man who has been in the School, — his name, particularly the place from which he came, and the college (if any) of which he was a graduate, — cannot fail, in many instances, to bring a man to the minds of some of his contemporaries in the School from whose memory either the man himself or his name had gradually faded.

Moreover, many gentlemen from whom information has been received, have shown a knowledge so extensive and so minute of the people (and especially dentists) of their own state, that it is hoped that the possession of the catalogue will enable them to give information in regard to many men of their own state, who were not their contemporaries in the Dental School.

The relative position of the geographical list is not at all dependent upon either of the others and hence is placed between them; the chronological marking the years of graduation or leaving and the alphabetical being an index to the same.

The catalogue, it is conceived, will be consulted chiefly for one of two purposes, namely, either to obtain information about particular persons, or to ascertain what Dental School men there are in some particular place. For the former purpose, the alphabetical list and the chronological list will be successfully resorted to; for the latter purpose, the geographical list alone will be used.

The present edition represents both the Dental School and the Dental Alumni Association. To the latter, the geographical list is of prime importance and interest; for the names of members of the Dental Alumni Association are so printed that they can be distinguished at a glance. The geographical list contains also an important item of information, namely, a statement of the more important public offices now held by those whose names the list contains.

Considering that this work was begun at a time when the School had been in existence for about thirty years, and that it has all been done within a period of less than eight months, it is believed to be a cause for profound congratulation that so much has been accomplished. The number of persons whose names is contained in this catalogue is 544; the number of those of whom nothing is known is only 14 ($\frac{14}{544} = .0257+$) or a fraction over 2% of the whole number.

It is hoped that the past members of the School, without whose generous and active co-operation the results already achieved would have been impossible, will, by their continued support and encouragement, enable us, before the issue of the next Quinquennial, to reduce to still smaller proportions the number of those of whom nothing is known, as well as the number of those concerning whom this information is defective.

WALDO E. BOARDMAN, D.M.D. '86,
Secretary Harvard Dental Alumni Association.

Boston, June, 1897.

PREFACE TO QUINQUENNIAL OF 1900.

This edition contains a new feature, that of adding the entire staff of other officers outside the Dental School proper, of all officers of the University who are members of the Board of Government to the Dental School.

The honorary names have been placed in the classes designated by the year in which they received the degree.

Reference to the preface of the first (1897) Quinquennial is necessary for explanation of the chronological, geographical and alphabetical lists and need not be here repeated.

In order to understand the important changes in the management of the School, attention is called to the Faculty of Medicine and the Administrative Board.

The present occupations of all past students who are not practicing dentistry is given in the geographical list as far as it was possible to ascertain them, and it was also thought best to add all offices pertaining to Dentistry which each past student now holds as well as all political offices.

A comparison of this edition of the Quinquennial with that of 1897 will show the rapid increase of the School in numbers; for no less than 152 names have, during the last three years, been added to the list of past members ($696 - 544 = 152$), representing graduates of 71 colleges.

A like comparison will show that death has been very busy with the past members of the School, no less than 22 deaths having occurred since the Quinquennial of 1897 was published ($69 - 47 = 22$). Notwithstanding that the number of past members is greater now by 152 than it was in 1897, the number of those of whom nothing is known is more than it was in 1897 ($22 - 14 = 8$).

It is interesting to learn by reference to the geographical list how many are pursuing other callings than dentistry.

PREFACE TO QUINQUENNIAL OF 1905.

The third edition contains some new features: first, the arranging of past and present officers in alphabetical order instead of by seniority of appointment; second, the starring of all deceased past members in the alphabetical list, which enables one to know what particular person is dead without turning to the class in which he was placed in the chronological list, unless it be desired to learn the date of his death.

Another feature is the addition of illustrations of the buildings which have been occupied by the School; this is added simply as a matter of record.

A comparison of this edition of the Quinquennial with that of 1900 will show considerable increase of the School in numbers. During the last five years 215 names have been added to the list of past members (913 — 696 = 215), representing graduates of 60 colleges. During the same period 32 deaths have occurred (101 — 69 = 32). Notwithstanding that the number of past members is greater now by 215 than it was in 1900, the number of those of whom nothing is known is nearly double what it was in 1900 (38 — 22 = 16).

This Catalogue is issued every five years. It is of course desirable to make it as complete and accurate as possible; therefore any information that past members of the School will be good enough to send to the editor, Dr. Waldo E. Boardman, will be gratefully received.
